This is what the republicans from New Eng-land saw under a low tariff. Within eleven years after the passage of thi-bill the members from New England will vote for a still further reduction, or, if they did not, the people would send some body here who would."

And now that the general debate on the tariff bill is over, few people ar-under the necessity of asking which has the best of the contest thus far. The democrats have won an intellectnal and political battle, and the repub-licans know it. They hesitate to accept a challenge to a direct vote on the they have taken Mr. Randall's bill aan expression of republican opinion only because they are utterly unable t formulate a bill of their own, upon which to place their faith in the coming campaign before the plain people of the country.

The Mills bill may not pass, although the outlook is very favorable for it now. But the democrats who favor that measure have the satisfaction of knowing that they have furnished the issue upon which the Presiden tal election will be contested. Me Mills is very confident that his bill wil pass the House, so confident that he proposed to the republican leaders of the House that they should introduce the substitute which they propose of fering for the bill and take a vote on it, and immediately thereafter on his bill, shutting off all amendments as

The Brazilian Senate has passed the bill abolishing slavery, which was passed by the Chamber of Deputies last week. The effect of this bill will be to liberate about 600,000 slaves, valued at $200,000,000. This is the last step in the gradual emancipation begun in 1873 at which time there were registered 1,540,696 slaves.
